

Granulocytes

Granulocytes are white blood cells whose cytoplasm contains secretory granules. White blood cells without these granules are called Agranulocytes.

Granulocytes are further divided into:

- Neutrophilic
- Basophilic
- Eosinophilic

References

Related articles

- Leukocytes
- Blood
- Blood Cell Examination

References

- KITTNAR, Otomar. Lékařská fyziologie. 1.. edition. 2011. ISBN 9788024730684.