

Facies adenoidea

Facies adenoidea is a typical facial expression in children with current respiratory diseases, the source of which is excessively bloated adenoid vegetation. Due to its size, it is an obstacle in breathing through the nose, so a child breathes through the mouth, has a nasal and thick voice, snores at night and does not hear.^[1]

Links

Related articles

- Vegetationes adenoideae

References

- 1.